Miss Mary Cooper

"Hic, Haec, Hoc!" Hearing these words, any Latin student in B.H.S. immediately thinks of the time spent drilling in room 204—and Miss Mary Cooper.

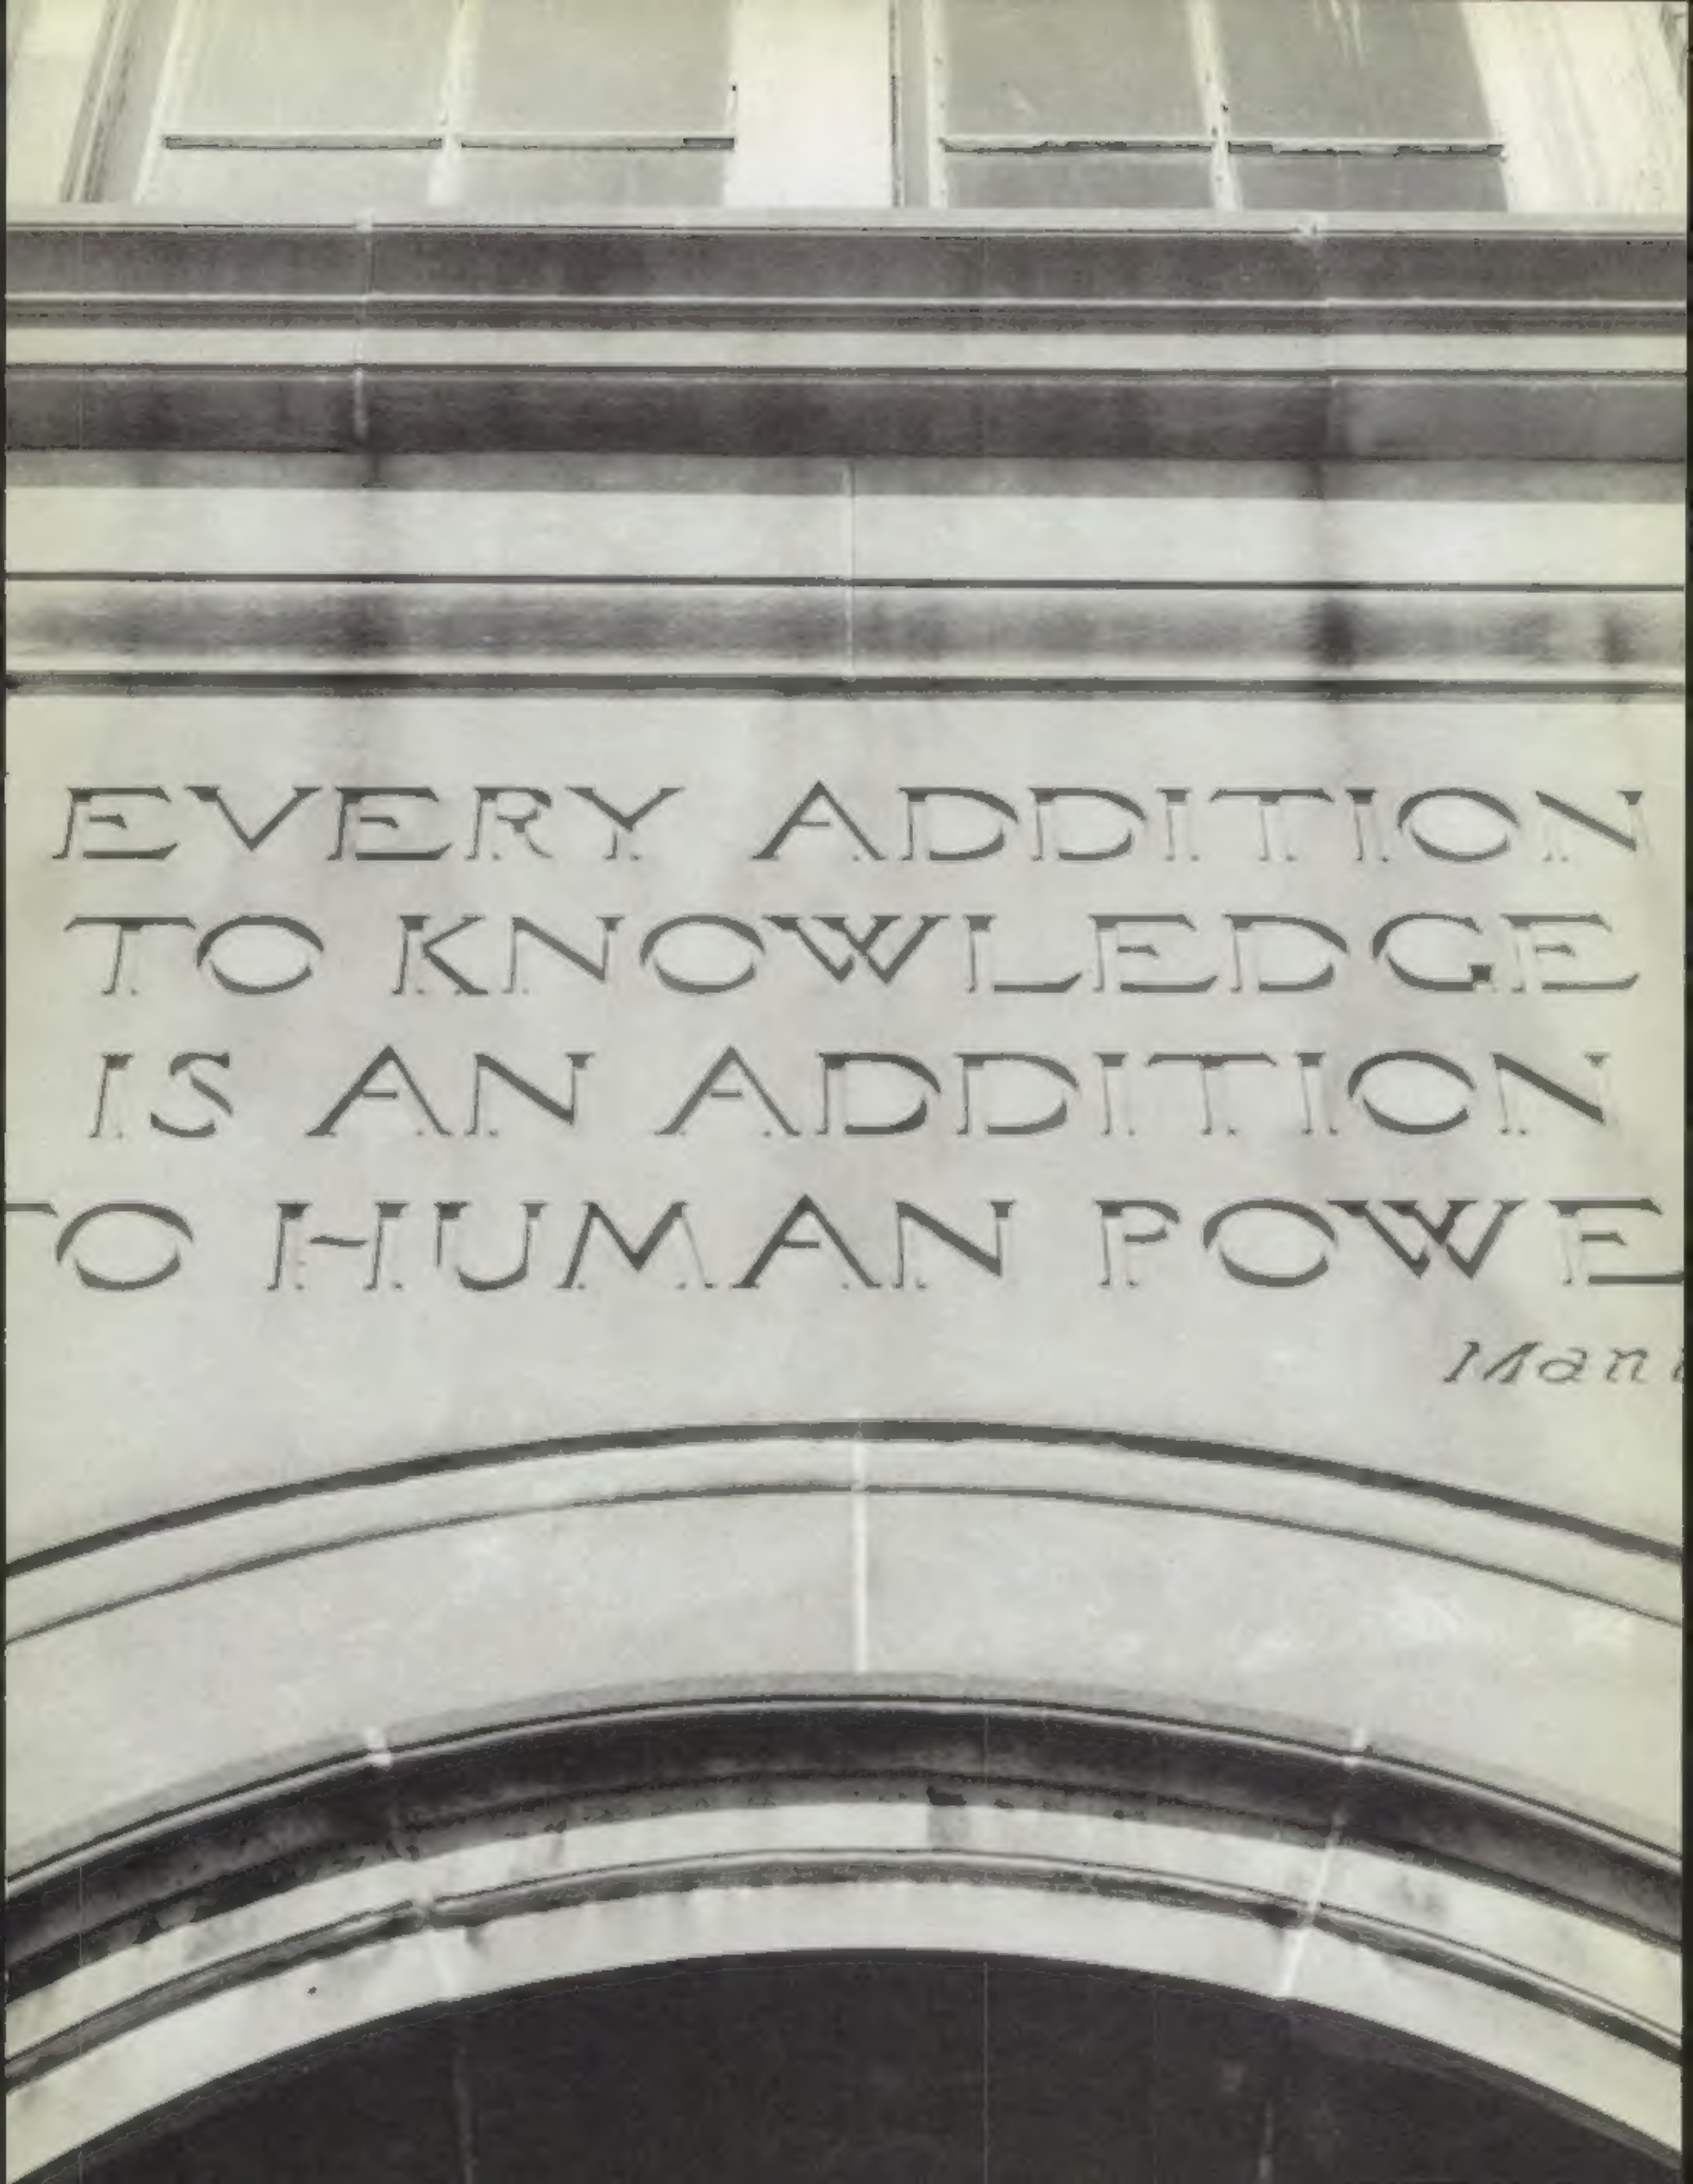

Although born in Chicago, Illinois, Miss Cooper has lived most of her life in Bellevue and is a graduate of Bellevue High School. At Ohio University, Miss Cooper took a liberal arts course. She later earned her Master's Degree at Ohio State University.

Since joining the faculty in 1933, Miss Cooper has taught Latin and history to B.H.S. students.

Because of her many years in Bellevue, because of her willingness to be of help, because of her cheerful nature and the many hours spent in fun together, it is to Miss Mary Irene Cooper we dedicate the 1957 Comet.

EVERY ADDITION TO KNOWLEDGE
IS AN ADDITION TO HUMAN POWER

Man

FOREWORD

The school year began as all school years do on a note of expectancy. As we walked through the arches and turned to the right or to the left to find our classrooms, we felt the challenge of the new year. The halls, freshly waxed, stretched like black ice under our feet.

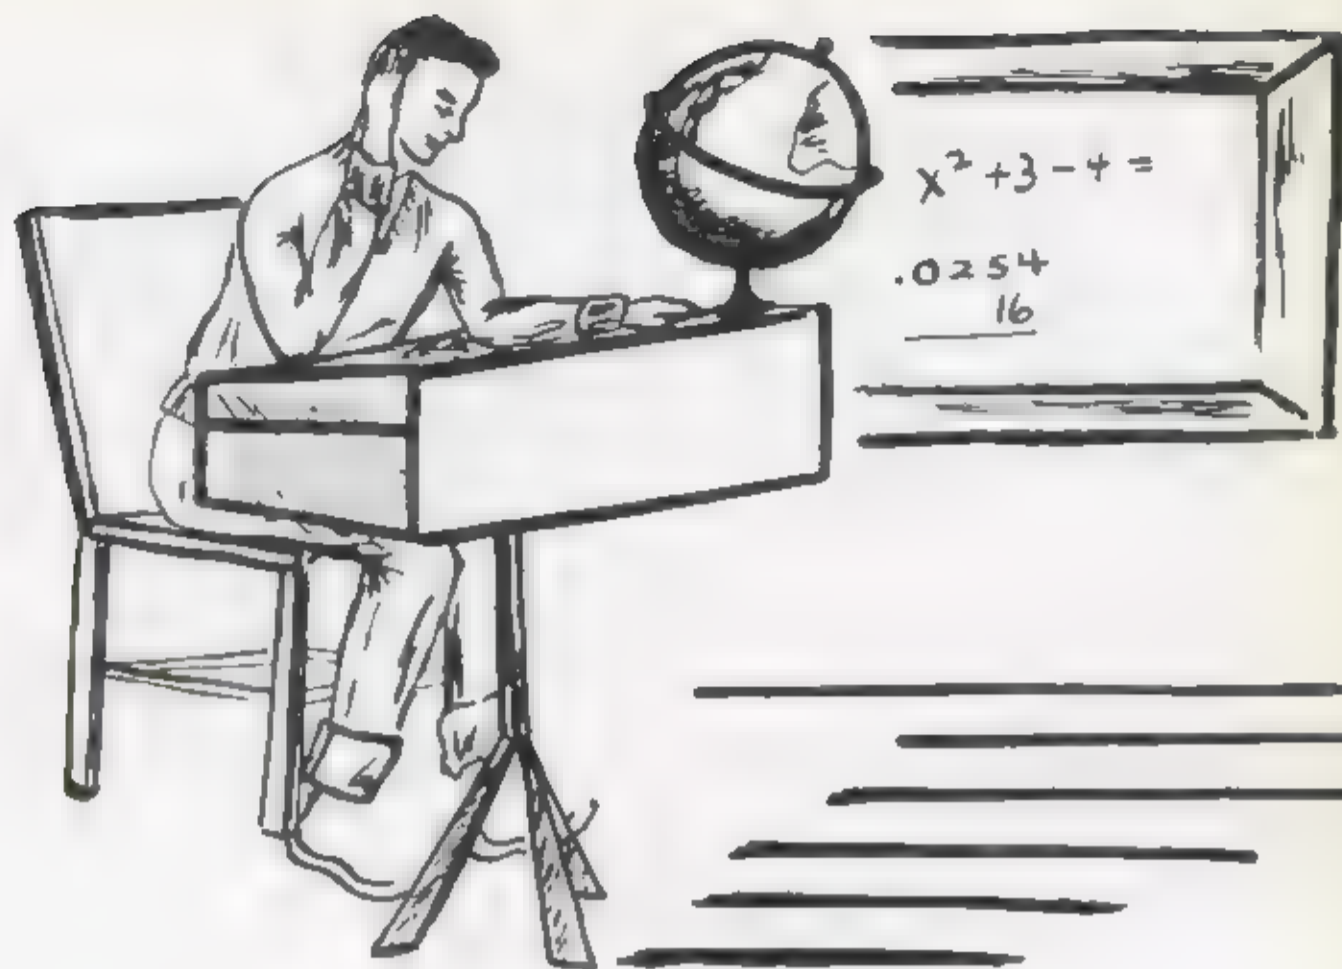

Each year has its special interests. This was the year of the "Ivy League Look." The feminine version of it, like the masculine was striped, neat and "very sharp." Spring brought the wide skirt fad, bouffant, swishy and made of picture prints. Wide enough to be out of the ante-bellum period and almost as difficult to manage, they were the most colorful fad of the year. Hair styles were our only real individualism.

Some days the arches were bathed in warm sunshine and then we liked to linger on the steps, hating the sound of the bell which brought us in. Swirling snow blinded us at other times and made us hurry. Sometimes we paused to trace out with our eyes the strong words cut into the stone above the center arch—"Every addition to knowledge is an addition to human power."

How we accepted the challenge of these words is the story of this year's Comet. How our well-managed school and effective teaching helped achieve this power is part of the story.

How taking advantage of the school's program in organizations, sports, arts and recreation helped us achieve the power of a well-rounded life is also part of the story.

ACADEMIC

"Knowledge," says Webster, "is a clear and certain perception of something." It is in the classroom that a student strives for this perception. Through his academic efforts he forms opinions and judgments. His education prepares him to fill any post with credit and to master any situation with facility.

FACULTY

The occasion was the dinner meeting of the Bellevue Classroom Teachers Association, April 4, 1957, at Shumaker School. It celebrated the centennial of the National Education Association and gave this opportunity to record the faces of the faculty

A point of professional pride is that the group includes Miss Anita Ruffing, currently serving as president of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the Ohio Education Association, and Mr. F. D. Swigart, who served as president of the Northwestern Ohio Education Association during 1956.

In one of the frequent conferences held in the superintendent's office, Mr. Swigart and Mr. Glasgo meet to discuss school policy.

Vacation time for the Swigarts often finds them in this beautiful spot in the Michigan woods. Mr. and Mrs. Swigart have a hunting lodge in the heart of the deer country.

Mr. Glasgo finds hunting with his dog, Corky, a relaxing hobby. Ashland County, Ohio, is one of his favorite hunting spots

Mr. Burke, Junior High principal, presides at the Vocabulary Down in the high school auditorium. In addition to his interest in American history, Mr. Burke has been moderator of both the Vocabulary and Spelling Downs for a number of years.

School nurse, Miss Bertha Helen Kistler, checks school files for student health records.

The full office force meets in the superintendent's office for payrolle. Representing the principal's office are Miss Vicki Stoll and Geraldine Rufing. Mrs. Warren Frankenfield is secretary to the superintendent. Serving in a similar capacity is Mrs. Harold Brown who came into the office on January 16. Sharon Pittenger is employed part time in the same office.

In Front of Counter: Geraldine Rufing, Sharon Pittenger
Behind Counter: Mrs. Harold Brown, Miss Vicki Stoll, Mrs. Warren Frankenfield

The school board holds its regular meetings in the conference room adjoining the principal's office. The second Wednesday of the month at 1:00 P.M. is the regular meeting time. Matters pertaining to teachers, finance, buildings, grounds, custodians and supplies are a part of the board's concern.

CLASS SONG:

Commencement time has come at last,
And high-school days are in the past,
But we have these moments we'll remember.
Our favorite class, the work we've done.
The recognition we have won—
These are moments that we'll long remember.
The hours of fun together, with the friends that we have known
Will linger in our mem'ries after many years have flown.
Though now we leave it all behind,
All through the years we still will find
We'll remember days at Bellevue High School.

We've hitched our wagon to a star:
The dreams we have will take us far,
But our high school days we'll still remember.
The lessons learned, the morals taught
Will help us find the goals now sought;
And our high school days we'll long remember.
Oh, God, we ask for guidance; all our standards help us meet.
Go Thou through life beside us,
And lead our eager feet.
The years will fly; the time will come
When all our battles we'll have won.
But we'll still remember Bellevue High School.

Thespians is open to juniors and seniors interested in dramatics and speech. Troup 173 represents one of the outstanding honoraries at Bellevue High School. Eighty lines of speech or its equivalent in some phase of dramatics makes a student eligible for this national organization.

The dates February 5, and May 9, marked the forty-fifth and forty-sixth initiation ceremonies held at B.H.S. since the club was organized in 1930. Robert Gleason, who portrayed Dr. Peter Marshall, was honored as "Thespian of the Year."

Quill and Scroll held its initiation May 9, bringing special recognition to eight students for their outstanding work with school publications during the current year. A continuing interest in journalism is a consideration in choosing juniors for this honorary organization. The Dial, Comet, and Bellevue Gazette serve as a writing laboratory for the successful candidates.

Scholarship Team consisting of 48 students took the district test at Heidelberg College, May 4. Students ranking high in the Preliminary District-State Scholarship Test were selected.

National Honor Society held its formal initiation on April 15, for six juniors and eight seniors.

Each year a surprise assembly is called to name those outstanding juniors and seniors who have met the qualifications of leadership, scholarship, character and service to this top high school honorary.

Mr. Glasgo assisted by the staff made the final selection of students to represent the school in the subject which it was felt they would do best.

This year's service was conducted by the faculty members, Miss Emily Sayles and Miss Erma Buffington. The initiation address was given by the Rev. Robert Wilkenson. Mr. Swigart and Mr. Glasgo spoke briefly on the challenge which membership in this organization presents to the school.

Comet day is traditions. Wednesday, Jan. 30, 1957. The last meeting of the year has all the solemnity of "The Reading of the Will." But no rich uncle has left the state a million. The only real legacy is the one bequeathed with successful Comets in previous years. This tradition alone constitutes a challenge of somewhat frightening size.

The yearbook is a many-faceted enterprise with openings for a great variety of abilities. The financial staff, largely through subscription, furnishes money for the book. It handles a budget slightly under three thousand dollars. The students receive valuable training through contacts with the enterprises which print the yearbook and furnish the covers.

Other opportunities for yearbook members are in editing, writing, photography, clerical work, typing and art.

The yearbook is a cumulative enterprise and a highly cooperative one. With it come the rewards of careful planning and hard work. The Comet has the pleasurable duty of helping its subscribers remember the events which have made the school year significant and of acting as a public relations medium for its school.

Dial appears monthly and in its coverage reviews the highlights of the school program. It has consistently received high ratings as a journalism project. Sparked with sprightly copy, pictures and interesting layouts, the Dial is a bright spot in student life.

The Dial staff maintains contacts with N.S.P.A., and the North Western Ohio District Journalism Association. Mr. Heter, Dial adviser, is the current secretary of the latter group.

Y-Teens started a busy year with a Kick-Off Dinner combined with a style show at Ridge School, October 15. The Christian Service Clothing Drive came in November and the annual hay ride, December 1. The same month saw the Candlelight Service observance with the Reverend Cecil Norman as guest speaker. Midwinter events included a special guest speaker on fashions and the annual carnival with booths, prizes, an auction and dance. Shar-ing viewpoint on the "Boy-Girl-Parent Panel," March 8, proved interesting. Two inspirational and completely beautiful events ended the year. They were the Easter Assembly, April 8, and the Mother-Daughter Banquet, May 22. The latter included Y-Teen members and their mothers, all adult members of the Y.W.C.A., and the eighth grade girls with their mothers.

Hi-Y is an organization for all high school boys. The club meets every Monday evening during the school year in the Y.M.C.A.

The activities of the year included the formal initiation, Northwestern Ohio Conference in Findlay, the district meet in Fremont, a joint panel discussion with the Y-Teens, and the outing at East Harbor.

Library Club and Service Club are synonymous terms. Along with the library's service to the school go many social activities for its members. On the social side are the Christmas and Halloween parties. Initiation of new members and a "Book Week Tea" for the faculty made interesting projects for the club. Highlight of the year was the field trip to Cleveland and a guided tour through the Cleveland Public Library.

Student librarians take library work as a subject and receive academic credit. Under Mrs. McComb's supervision each student works weekly periods at library duties, setting up book displays and reporting on his reading.

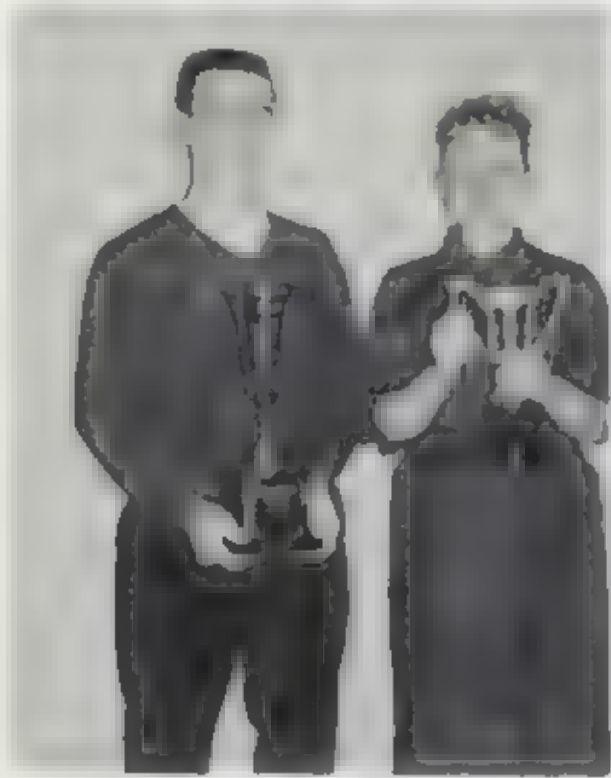

Richard Jamison, senior, completed his fourth year of library service in the high school library. For qualities of dependability, responsibility, helpfulness and high standards of conduct he was selected to receive the special award given by the Public Library and high school library. This award, given to a graduating senior, consists of a gold pin made like an open book with the inscription, "Library Service."

Friendliest junior girl and boy elected by the senior class were Ann Schlicht and Dave Stratso

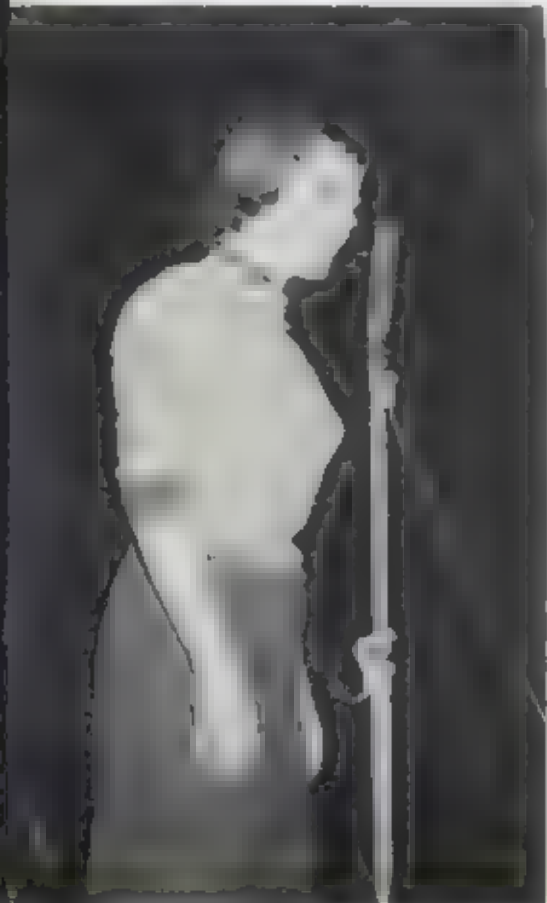

Charles Donforth award is given nationally to seniors outstanding in their classes. This year Gerald Smith and Sadie Belle Tetirick were chosen by the faculty to receive this honor

Doris Hakes Memorial Trophy this year went to Sharon Pittenger for her service in F.T.A

Spelling champion, Mary Lee won title on March 11. She defeated finalist competing against her in the word, "penitentiary."

Vocabulary Down was won by Sadie Belle Tetirick. Freshman David Brown, who was runner-up in the Spelldown, also captured second place in the vocabulary contest Magazine campaign with a total receipt of $4681.43, found Ronald Schaefer, Barbara Ferry, Beverly Ruess, Bob Bellard and Linda Coup as top salesmen.

Christmas play this year brought back memories of the earlier show done in 1951 with Joyce Katuzman and Edward Monarchi in the leading roles. The story centers around the broken organ in the village church and little Heinrich's disappointment in being unable to pump it for the cantata. How warm-hearted Mama and Papa Weismueller comfort him and send the boy to Reverend Mohr's with a Christmas basket makes a pleasant scene in the play. The climax of the play is reached when Heinrich rushes the lyrics of the new song written by Reverend Mohr to Franz Gruber to complete the melody of "Silent Night, Holy Night." The story of "A Song is Born" ends on this happy note.

Junior Class Play cast and director will not be apt to forget the nightmarish moments before curtain time while waiting the delivery of the flapper era costumes from New York. However, the uncertainty of wearing strange costumes seemed to be no obstacle to the "Belles on Their Toes" cast. Overheard in the hall after the show were such remarks as "tremendous job of casting," "smooth costumes," "timing excellent," "voice projection tops," "sharp dance routine," "wonderful story."

The play, directed by Miss Emily Sayles and presented in the high school auditorium on November 15 and 16, was the true story of the Gilbreth family. The plot revolves about the problem facing Mrs. Gilbreth, who on the death of her husband is left with twelve children to support. When she leaves on a European trip to make speeches on her husband's time study methods, the children set out to prove they can take care of themselves.

At this point in the play, trouble, fun, and a completely entertaining story begin to unfold. Cousin Leora's inability to get along well with the children and with Tom, the general handy man, affords the audience a chance to pull out the stops and "laugh until it hurts."

Stars of the show, behind the flats rather than the footlights, were Sandra Norman as student director and Janice Ayers and Georgeanna Miller as bookholders. Bob Bellard and Jim Vogel filled the important stage manager spot.

Senior Class Play performers were heralded as near professional at the close of this year's presentation, "A Man Called Peter."

Audiences laughed and wept with Dr. Marshall and his wife Catherine as they strove to solve their own and several parishioners' problems in 3 hours of "pure Scottish" entertainment.

Learning to sing Scotch songs, to roll Scotch "R's" to show anger and to portray fear took the cast six weeks of hard work.

The rewards were worth the struggles for the play was rated tops by all who saw it.

Knowledge means understanding. A truly educated person is one who strives to understand those around him.

The social functions of school aim at affording not only pleasure and relaxation to everyone but a chance to know each other better

Homecoming evening, October 19, found the weather co-operative, the crowd large and the game with Upper Sandusky exciting. Queen Pat Roszman arrived with her entourage in a cavalcade of three cars.

Pat, wearing an aqua tweed suit with black pumps, received a bouquet of flowers and the traditional kiss from Kenny Wise and co-captain Nick Belfiore. Queen Pat opened the game by flipping the coin to determine which team would receive.

Senior attendants to the queen were Linda Haynes and Doris Dickson. They were escorted by Bill Kistler and Jim Landes. Mary Lou Sauber, junior attendant was escorted by Roger Ruffing. Charlene DeLuca, sophomore attendant had as her escort, Leroy Gonya. Barbara Schaefer, freshman attendant, was escorted by Jeff Gladish. Little Patricia Close and Larry Meyers completed the party.

After changing into evening dress, the queen and her attendants again opened the festivities, this time at the high school auditorium. Waiting until her party gathered, Queen Pat made her entrance to a raised platform on the stage. After posing for pictures she opened the Homecoming Dance in the traditional manner by dancing the first dance with her escort.

Christmas Formal guests had only to look around them at the setting of Christmas trees, three-dimensional stars, white bells and balloons to know they were in a "Snow Carnival."

Will Keating's Band and Nick Belfiore, master of ceremonies, helped the fun "snowball" during the evening into one big frolic of fun. Intermission brought the Senior Girls' Triple Trio into the spotlight and Mr. Everson, who sang two selections.

Highlighting the night was the crowning of King and Queen of Good Will, Kenny Wise and Carolyn Bauman by F.H.A. president Myrl Dean Pierce

Keen Teens started over a year ago, is an organization formed by teenagers for teenagers.

Keen Teens was initiated by a group of students and members of the St. Paul's Episcopal Vestry in order to answer the teenagers' pleas for more recreational facilities.

The organization rents the Episcopal Parish Hall for a small sum of money and provides ping pong tables, games, refreshments, dancing and a juke box. The dances held every other week, attract approximately 100 to 200 teenagers.

Junior-Senior Prom, held April 5, had as this year's theme "Paradise of the Deep." Sea shells from California, sparkling fish mobile, and a sunken treasure chest all helped set the scene for this Junior-Senior Prom which was held to honor the class of 1957 at the high school auditorium.

Senior class president, Gerald Smith, and Jim Walters, president of the junior class, led the Grand March which began at 9:30. Ernie Duffield and his Orchestra furnished the music.

Serving as mistress and master of ceremonies were Ann Schlicht and Bellevue Redmen, better known as the "Mighty Midgets," wrapping up their season with a 12-7 win over Port Clinton, completed one of the finest gridiron seasons in the Bellevue record book. Their only loss came as the result of a 20-7 defeat handed them by the Shelby Whippets.

The Redmen's powerful offense racked up a total of 223 points while their fine defensive play limited the opposition to 88 points. The scoring trio of Helber, Wise, and Krupp accounted for 215 of the 223 points scored. Kent Helber, one of the highest scorers in Redman history, finished the season with 114 points. Heading the "Mighty Midgets" hard-charging line attack was veteran guard Nick Belfiore. Nick and his fellow linemen's ability to outcharge the opposition, paved the way for many Redman TD's. Rounding out the senior stalwarts in the forward wall were:

center Bill Roberts, tackle Lennie Phillips, and end Bob Jeffries.

Five Redmen were selected on the N.O.L. all-league team by the league this year. Players making the squad were: Kent Helber, Ken Wise, Tom Krupp, Nick Belfiore, and Bob Bailey. Nick Belfiore and Kent Helber were unanimously selected by the league coaches as outstanding lineman and outstanding backfield players respectively. Nick also made first offensive guard on the ALL-Ohio School Boy Squad. Helber and Wise were named to the ALL-Ohio Honorable Mention Squad.

Results of the Redmen's fine season could be credited to the team's hard work, spirit, desire and the ability to work together under the leadership of the co-captains Ken Wise and Nick Belfiore and the excellent coaching by the head coach Lowell Shaffer and line coach Burnell "Curly" Hoffman.

Redmen Cage Squad rounding out the season with a heart-breaking first round tournament defeat to Sandusky St. Mary's wrapped up the basketball season with an unforgettable 18 straight defeats. Despite such a record, Coach Burnell Hoffman's cagers never gave up trying for that initial taste of victory. The double overtime loss to Norwalk, 45-47, and the tournament game with St. Mary's were the Redmen's closest chances for victory No. 1.

Grabbing the top scoring laurels for the season was senior Redmen captain Gerald Smith who garnered 224 points for an average of 12.4 points per game. Other players scoring 100 points or more were: Jerry Foos 117, Kenny Falter 112. Freshman Jere Crosby 110, and Ed Wagner with 110 points. "Smit-ty" made the honorable mention all-league cage squad. Ed Wagner was elected by his teammates next year's basketball captain.

Swimming Pool at Bellevue High School offers an opportunity for students to learn swimming as a part of their physical education courses. The pool constructed in 1930 and carefully maintained has the dimensions of 20' x 60'. With a capacity of 55,000 gallons and a water temperature of 78° the pool presents ideal conditions for swimming.

One of the most popular of the adult education classes this season was the evening swimming class conducted each Monday evening by Mrs. Pendleton and Mr. Hickman.

Lifesaving Class was instructed by Mrs. Pendleton with the help of Sue Waters. The junior lifesavers, girls under 16, and the senior lifesavers met together for the 12 week course. Swimming and lifesaving were practiced on Monday and Wednesday mornings first period, while discussions and oral tests were held on Friday mornings first period.

Cheerleading is an annual event in which approximately 35 girls compete for either varsity or reserve squads.

After practicing for two weeks the girls appear before the faculty in a tryout contest. Girls who are not eliminated appear before the student body where the 5 varsity and 3 reserve members are chosen. Cheering at all football and basketball games, conducting pep meetings, keeping school spirit and good sportsmanship at its best are the chief duties of the cheerleaders

National Athletic Scholarship Society accepted four new members this year. New members are Dick Edwards, Larry Frost, Ed Wagner, and Ken Wise. Members of the N.A.S.S. must show mastery in scholarship, citizenship, and athletics. Their motto is "Balanced Training." To wear the gold pin of the society a boy must have earned one major or two minor awards in a major sport, maintained a scholastic average of 85 per cent or higher for three consecutive semesters and achieved a high type of citizenship in school life. Mr. Lowell Shaffer is their adviser. The Bellevue Chapter of the N.A.S.S. received its charter in 1931.

Girls' Athletic Association, members are those high school girls who are active in the intramural program. Under their supervision a Sports' Day was held in Bellevue with more than 150 in attendance. They also participated in Sports' Days with Clyde and Norwalk. By playing intramurals a girl receives G.A.A. points. With 80 points she earns a G.A.A. emblem, for 250 the "B" letter. Girls with 400 points get G.A.A. pins. The senior with the highest number of points receives a medal.
